Chairman Stocker of Colorado Organization Also Expects Big Progressive Victory in State: Bull Moose Elated

Special to The Gazette.
DENVER, Oct. 24. Local Progressives are elated over the receipt by Chairman Allison Stocker of a telegram from Joseph M. Dixon, chairman of the national Progressive committee, stating that indications are the Progressive ticket will carry the country as a whole on Tuesday.
The elation is a welcome support to Chairman Stocker, and the executive committee, which has sent out letters all over the state and all county chairs declaring that reports of prospects for the Progressive ticket are without foundation in fact.
There will be no fusion, declared Chairman Stocker this morning. "There is no need of fusion. Test votes all over the state indicate the trend of the sentiment. Here is one taken at Rio Grande train by a Democratic night pass. Senators Bell and Cameron on the train and they can't get on, corroborate the figures."

ADMIRAL RUSSIAN NAVY KILLS SELF ON ACCOUNT ILLNESS CROWN PRINCE

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 24.—Rumors attribute Rear Admiral Chagin's suicide at his residence yesterday to remorse over the illness of Crown Prince Alexis, which is reported to have been the result of an accident while the little prince was aboard the Standard.
It is said the crown prince injured himself while imitating the sailors' diving, although it is positively affirmed that he slipped and fell in his bath.
Admiral Chagin killed himself with a rifle. He spent the previous night in writing letters to relatives. He left a note on the table saying: "I wish that no one should be accused of my death."
He led the Russian naval detachment at the battle of Tsushima.

IDENTIFY LETTERS AT DYNAMITE TRIAL

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 24.—Mrs. Grace Taylor Wallis, former stenographer for John J. McNamara, identified at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today many letters received at and sent from the headquarters of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers just before McNamara's arrest on April 22, 1911.
Mrs. Wallis denied that J. B. McNamara who blew up the Los Angeles Times building, was about the headquarters much. She said she had seen him only twice after he was being searched for. The witness also denied that any nitroglycerine cans or packages of dynamite were kept about the office.

Interrupts Inquest Over Supposed Suicide; Points Out Alleged Murderer

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—It was supposed that Joseph Winkus had committed suicide when his body was found in a rooming house here today.
An inquest was being held when a woman rushed into the room and halted the proceedings by shouting:
"Stop, stop! He did not kill himself. He was murdered. There stands the man who killed him."
The man indicated was Joseph Brudas, the husband of the woman from whom Winkus rented his rooms.
The woman was Mrs. Anna Roder, who declared a revolver found beside the dead man had been purchased by Brudas.
Brudas was held by order of the coroner.

Edward P. Costigan of Denver, Progressive candidate for governor, will address a rousing Progressive rally at Temple theater this evening. Keen interest is manifested in the meeting, and a large attendance is expected.
Clarence P. Dodge of this city, Progressive candidate for congressman-at-large, will preside, and the theater will be attractively decorated, a committee of women having the decorations in charge. Music will be furnished by the Elks band, which will play on the streets before the meeting, and also during its progress.
Benjamin F. Griffith of Grand Junction, the fighting attorney general, also will speak if he can arrange to be in the city, and a number of other addresses are being arranged for.

DEMOCRATS DEAL IN GENERALITIES

JOHNSON NAILS WILSON MISSTATEMENTS

Harp About Trusts, He Says, but Has Done Nothing With Them in N. J.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 24.—Governor Wilson and his advocates have misrepresented the attitude of the Progressive party toward the trusts, was charged here tonight by Governor Johnson, in a speech at the Auditorium. All of his charges were refuted through a rain to the hall. The seats and aisles were filled.
"The Democratic candidate for president and his advocates persistently repeat and widely disseminate a statement in regard to our attitude on the trusts that is without foundation and which does not differ more in misrepresentation," he declared.

What Progressives Propose

"They say that we intend to legalize monopoly. This is the vilest nonsense. We propose to utilize every law that exists for the repression and suppression of the trusts; and then, by other enactments, supply any deficiency, and in the very law itself lay down certain requirements, and then have the industrial commission that we propose see that the trusts live up to these requirements. We expect to put the very requirements in the law itself."
"What Mr. Wilson intends to do, no one knows, and thus far Mr. Wilson has not told us, and those who are making the contest in his behalf, content themselves with glittering generalities, resounding platitudes and abstractions stated in metaphor."

Wilson Molested No Trust

"They point to the awfulness of the trusts, the wrongs accomplished, the tyranny and the like, and then misstate our positions. Indeed, much do they say about prosecution and jailing offenders and yet, with criminal laws existing in New Jersey, no trust-maker has been prosecuted or jailed by Mr. Wilson."
This address ended the governor's campaign in Pennsylvania. He was well pleased with his reception, especially among the miners and railroad men, who have given him a warm welcome.

Leaves for New York

After the meeting tonight he left for New York, where he was scheduled to arrive tomorrow.

At New York the governor will change to the private car "Ideal," formerly occupied by Colonel Roosevelt, and leave in a few hours for Watbury, Conn., for a noon meeting and a night address at Bridgeport.

REPULSE TURKS ON EVERY HAND

Kirk-Kilisseh Falls Before Bulgarian Forces, With Big Loss

Servians Take 5 Towns

3,000 Killed in Three Day Battle

SOFIA, Oct. 24.—Kirk-Kilisseh fell before the Bulgarian army at 11 o'clock this morning, according to the latest reports received tonight from Bulgarian sources.
The Turkish troops retired in disorder in the direction of Dunavitsch, 11 miles to the southeast.
They left a battery of quick-firing guns, 16 ammunition wagons and a large quantity of ammunition and food. Details of the capture are meager. An unofficial estimate puts the Bulgarian casualties at 3,000.

Battle Began Tuesday

On Tuesday the first army, under General Ivanoff, attacked the center works of Adrianople in two large bodies. The northern detachment marched along both sides of the river Tundja, the right wing to the west of Havarae, the center to the east of Tundja and the left wing advancing from the northwest along the road from Kirk-Kilisseh to Adrianople.

Turks Leave Dead on Field

The Bulgarians crossed the Arda 15 miles southwest of Adrianople, and advancing surprised the Turks, who retreated to that city, leaving the dead and 150 prisoners.

Fighting was resumed all along the line at dawn Wednesday. The northern columns captured several advanced Turkish positions at the point of the bayonet and pressed on toward Adrianople.

The Turks withdrew a counter-attack towards the north-east in the direction of Arnankeui.

Servians Take Five Forts

BELGRADE, Oct. 24.—Official announcement was made here tonight that the Servian forces have occupied Novipazar, Ustina, Kumanova, Kmetov and Kotschana.

Detachments of the Servian army entered Kumanova this afternoon after annihilating the Turkish batteries. The fighting around that town lasted three days.

Turks Jump Into River

SOFIA, Oct. 24.—The Bulgarians were attacked by 5,000 Turks in an engagement Tuesday at Marash, near Adrianople. After an hour of heavy fighting around that town lasted three days.

CHAMP CLARK SPEAKS AT TEMPLE THEATER TODAY

Champ Clark of Missouri, defeated candidate for the Democratic nomination for president and speaker of the house of representatives, will be the big number on a list of Democratic speakers at a meeting at Temple theater at 10 o'clock this afternoon. The doors will open at 1:30 o'clock and the first speaker will probably be Mark Skinner. Speaker Clark is scheduled to arrive here at 2:30 o'clock and will be taken in an automobile to the theater. His speech will probably last an hour. Clyde A. Starnett will preside at the meeting.

LABOR LEADER STUMPING IND. FOR PROGRESSIVES

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Another big labor man has come out with reasons for the support of the Progressive ticket. It is William D. Huber, president of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, who is now stumping Indiana for the Progressive national ticket for November.

The American Federation of Labor has been urged during the last 10 years to get out of the "middle party," he said, "and join the executive council of the labor movement, which has been its only goal to do so."

As the Progressive party has been formed with a better platform in favor of labor than either the Democratic or Republican party, I believe the laboring men of America would stand with us, lay all prejudices aside for the good of the toilers and vote that ticket. It is the chance of the labor movement to elect men who will put labor in favor of labor as the platform speaks for itself."

RECKLESS FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER IN FIRST DEGREE

Receives Verdict Unflinchingly—Mrs. Becker Swoons—Remanded to Tombs Prison for Sentence on Oct. 30—Will Appeal

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(Friday 1 a. m.)—Police Lieutenant Charles Becker was found guilty last night of murder in the first degree by the jury which has been trying him for instigating the death of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler. The verdict was pronounced at 12:02 o'clock this morning.

The verdict read: "Murder in the first degree."

Becker was remanded for sentence to the Tombs by Justice Goff until October 30.

Mrs. Becker, sitting outside the door of the court room, swooned when the verdict was announced.

Becker did not flinch when he heard the verdict pronounced by Harold B. Skinner, foreman of the jury.

John F. McIntyre, Becker's chief counsel, announced that he would take an immediate appeal, but beyond this he had nothing to say.

The 12 jurors filed into the court room at 11:55 o'clock. A minute later the defendant was brought in from the Tombs. Justice Goff had not yet entered the room, and for a moment Becker took a side seat. As he waited he scanned the faces of the jurors, but none of them returned his gaze. A tense silence prevailed.

At 11:57 o'clock Justice Goff entered the court room, and bowing low to counsel, took his seat. The jury rolled forward. That was all. When the last juror had answered, Justice Goff instructed the clerk to take the pledge of the defendant. Becker answered the questions in a low, firm voice. A court officer brought the questions to him written on a slip of paper, and as the prisoner read them to himself, he replied:

Forty-two years old, American citizen, born in Germany, address, 3239 Audubon avenue, lieutenant of police, married, Protestant, mother, living, habits temperate, never convicted before.

When Becker's voice died away, Mr. McIntyre asked that all further proceedings be deferred for one week, until I can prepare the proper motion for appeal.

"I will defer sentence," announced Justice Goff, "until October 30, and remand the prisoner until that date."

Becker glanced at the judge and rested his eyes a moment on the jury. Then he turned and followed by a jail warden, walked with unflinching rapid steps up the aisle of the court room and disappeared through the door leading over the "Bridge of Sighs" to the Tombs.

JURY DELIBERATED ALMOST EIGHT HOURS.

The jury had deliberated nearly eight hours before reaching the verdict, although the case had been in their hands since 7:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Actual deliberation began at 4:07 o'clock, when the doors of the jury room swung behind them on their return from luncheon.

What happened behind those doors, how the debate ebbed and flowed, who stood out eight hours against the final verdict, how many ballots were cast—these were matters to whose secrecy each juror was pledged.

While the jury was making up its mind, absolute stillness, heightened by (Continued on Page Two.)

To Give Party on Her 92nd Birthday

Mrs. M. A. Garstin, mother of William Garstin, Democratic candidate for county surveyor, celebrates her ninety-second birthday today and has issued 50 invitations to a birthday tea to be given at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Glenside sanatorium, where she has resided for a number of years. Mrs. Garstin, who is widely known here, was born in England on the day when George IV was crowned king. She is remarkably familiar with both English and American politics and is widely read.

Collier's Weekly Is Out For Theodore Roosevelt

Through the recent resignation of Norman Hapgood, of the editorial staff of Collier's Weekly, the fact was made public by Robert J. Collier that his publication would support the Progressive party.

Therefore, during the few remaining days of the campaign, this great publication will be a Bull Moose.

Collier's has been steadily turning toward the support of Governor Wilson since the Baltimore convention. Next week it will appear as an out and out supporter of Col. Theodore Roosevelt and the Bull Moose party.

It was recalled that Mr. Collier was an old friend of Colonel Roosevelt, and that while his weekly had been coming out more and more strongly for Governor Wilson, it had patted the Bull Moose candidate on the back from time to time.

"Does Mr. Hapgood's retirement mean," the reporters asked, "that you will swing to Colonel Roosevelt and the Bull Moose?"

"You bet it does," said Mr. Collier with emphasis. "Then you will abandon Governor Wilson?"

"You can hardly abandon that which has already been abandoned. I am with Colonel Roosevelt not because of personal admiration for him, although I do admire him greatly, but because I feel that the Progressive party is a movement backed by a great moral force."

GET PAY CHECKS ON DARING RUSE

BOLD DAYLIGHT HOLDUP IN MINNEAPOLIS

Messenger Boy Relieved of 173 Checks—Cash Number at Business Houses

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 24.—After a daring robbery in which 173 "Bull Line" pay checks, totalling $5,000, were secured by a ruse from a messenger boy on one of the principal streets of the city this noon, two men visited a dozen department stores and other places of business here this afternoon, before warning, could be issued and cashed about twenty checks valued conservatively at $3,000.

Late this afternoon and tonight it practically was impossible for the 2,000 employees of the railway to secure cash for their checks as the result of the warning that was issued by the railway as soon as the robbery was discovered.

Robbers Escape Detection

The robbers, the police declare, hardly escaped detection a number of times, but disappeared. One laden with packages and with hundreds of dollars in their pockets, leaving the authorities with nothing upon which to work except a variety of descriptions.

According to the story of Oscar Christenson, the messenger boy, one of the men who later cashed the checks in various department stores, approached him as he was carrying the checks from the road's general office to the freight station.

Bay Was Suspicious

The stranger, the bay declares, told him he was from the paymaster's office, and that he had been sent to take the checks back to the general office, for the paymaster of an official had been notified. The bay sure he gave up the checks, but becoming suspicious, within a short time, called U. N. Priest, the paymaster, and told him of the incident.

The police were notified immediately. The men narrowly escaped when they attempted to pass one of the checks at a bank which already had been notified of the theft. The clerk stepped from the window to telephone the police when the men ran from the door, leaving the check on the counter.

Col. Roosevelt Up and Is Dressed All Day—Ready to Work

OSTER HAVEN, N. Y., Oct. 24.—From morning until night, Colonel Roosevelt was up and fully dressed today, walking unaided about the house.

It was the first time since he was shot that he had been out of bed for a time, but he felt so much better after two days' rest at home that he refused to stay upstairs in his room another day. He put on his khaki riding suit and supervised his family by appearing in the living room and saying he was going to have luncheon with the others.

Colonel Roosevelt was so much better that the physicians who have been coming from New York to care for him thought it unnecessary to make the trip today.

Condition Steadily Improving

In Henry L. Trench, the colonel's personal physician, and Dr. George W. Fisher of Oyster Bay, spent a few minutes with their patient in the morning and again later in the day and found that his condition was improving steadily.

The most marked change was his increased strength and vitality. He spent most of the day in his library, but accomplished little work. In spite of his physical condition, he found that he was getting better and his usual strength and in the afternoon he became fatigued and slept four hours.

Colonel Roosevelt expects to leave today. He will board his motor car to go to Sagamore Hill, in the morning, and will spend the next few days in dictating letters and a part of the speech he expects to deliver in New York next week.

RECEIVES VERDICT WITHOUT QUIVER OF A MUSCLE

FEEL BULLY! TAKE CASCARELS TONIGHT.

A 10 Cent Box Will Keep Your Liver, Stomach and Bowels Clean, Pure and Fresh for Months

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, constipation, foul taste, and foul breath always result from a torpid liver, delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Polonius matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is being re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Stimulate the liver, oil and lubricate the bowels, force a passage way for a day or two—yes, but they don't take the poisons out and have no effect upon the liver or stomach.

Cascarels immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascarels tonight will surely strengthen you and by morning they work while you sleep. It will free you from your draggish means, your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels clean and regular for months. (Advertisement)

TEJON STREET LIGHTS TO BE ERECTED SOON

Final agreement has been reached by the property owners in the block between Pikes Peak avenue and Kiowa street, on North Tejon street, for the installation of ornamental street lights, and work will be commenced today to complete the system. The obstacle that caused the delay was the misunderstanding regarding property at 24 North Tejon street, formerly occupied by J. H. Bridges and owned by H. A. Watson of California. W. H. Fowler, who recently purchased Bridges' store, knew nothing of an agreement whereby the tenant was to pay for the lighting system and to clear the matter up, the property owners in the block raised a subscription to defray the expense. L. C. Carpenter had charge.

LANDSLIDE FOR ROOSEVELI DENIED BY J. M. DIXON

Chairman Stocker of Colorado Organization Also Expects Big Progressive Victory in State; Bull Moose Elated

Special to The Gazette.
DENVER, Oct. 24.—Local Progressives were elated over the receipt by Chairman Allgöwer of a telegram from Joseph M. Dixon, chairman of the national Progressive committee, stating that indications are the Progressive ticket will carry the country as early as Tuesday.
The receipt of a welcome support to Chairman Stocker and the executive committee, which has sent out letters to all candidates and all county chairmen, declaring that reports of prospective fusion of the Bull Moose and the Republican parties are without foundation in fact.
There will be no fusion, declared Chairman Stocker this morning. "There is no need of fusion. Test votes all over the state indicate the trend of the sentiment. Here is one taken at Rio Grande, taken by a Democrat yesterday night as the train was crossing the bridge. Senators Ball and Cameron were on the train and they can, if they will, corroborate the figures."

Colonel Gets Plurality.

The canvasser found 15 passengers on the train were for Debs, Socialist; 10 for Bull, Republican; 50 for Wilson, Democrat; and 52 for Roosevelt, Progressive. And I wish to say that of all these votes, taken this morning, the most margin for Roosevelt. It was on by a Democrat.
Chairman Dixon's telegram to Chairman Stocker follows:
New York, Oct. 24, 1912.—I have returned from Oyster Bay, where the greatest living American society leader, we believe he will have fully recovered to deliver his great message to the American people at Madison Square garden, October 30.
Telegraphic advices from nearly every state received this morning show a movement everywhere to the Progressive party in all big industrial centers. It looks like a veritable landslide one week from Tuesday, and electoral states like Illinois and Maryland are coming by pluralities more than 100,000.

Debs and Taft Even.

This morning's New York Herald, a moderate newspaper, bitterly antagonistic to our leader and to our cause, has the highest test vote poll taken in New York city and shows Roosevelt in the lead. Wilson second and Taft and Debs running a hot race in fourth place.

It is generally conceded by impartial voters who have had opportunity to visit in states like New York, Ohio, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, Jersey, Indiana, Washington, etc., that Roosevelt and California the best is absolutely between Roosevelt and Wilson, with nearly every test

Special to The Gazette.

DENVER, Oct. 24.—One of the most humiliating and disgraceful incidents in the history of the state occurred last winter, when through the failure of the Democratic party to extend the life of the state, the agricultural legislature at Fort Collins was thrown on charity basis. Perhaps this is the first time in the history of any state one of its educational institutions was forced to accept public charity while the department of government the capitol was overrun with politicians drawing salaries on bonds and admissions where there was no work perform.

owing to the shortage of cash, several departments in the Agricultural college faced the proposition of closing its doors. The Weld County farmers club, a nonpolitical organization, at once stepped in and appointed a committee to collect the money from one end to the other, getting charity funds for the college. If these collections were directly responsible for maintaining several of the experimental departments of the college during the last 15 months.

H. P. Costigan to Speak at Progressive Rally Tonight

Edward P. Costigan of Denver, Progressive candidate for governor, will address a rousing Progressive rally at Temple theater this evening. Keen interest is manifested in the meeting, and a large attendance is expected.

Clarence P. Dodge of this city, Progressive candidate for congressman-at-large, will preside, and the theater will be attractively decorated, a committee of women having the decorations in charge. Music will be furnished by the Elks band, which will play on the streets before the meeting, and also during its progress.

Benjamin F. Griffith of Grand Junction, the fighting attorney general, also will speak if he can arrange to be in the city, and a number of other addresses are being arranged for.

DEMOCRATS DEAL IN GENERALITIES

JOHNSON NAILS WILSON MISSTATEMENTS

Harps About Trusts, He Says, but Has Done Nothing With Them in N. J.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 24.—Governor Wilson and his advocates have misrepresented the attitude of the Progressive party toward the trusts, was charged here tonight by Governor Johnson. In a speech at the Auditorium, an enthusiastic throng escorted him through a rain to the hall. The seats and aisles were filled.
"The Democratic candidate for president and his advocates persistently repeat and widely disseminate a statement in regard to our attitude on the trusts that is without foundation and which does not rise above mere misrepresentation," he declared.

What Progressives Propose.

"They say that we intend to legalize monopoly. This is the vilest nonsense. We propose to utilize every law that exists for the repression and suppression of the trusts; and then, by other enactments, supply air deficiency, and in the very law itself lay down certain requirements, and then have the industrial commission that we propose see that the trusts live up to these requirements. We expect to put the very requirements in the law itself.

What Mr. Wilson intends to do, as one knows, and thus for Mr. Wilson has not told the people and those who are making the contest in his behalf, content themselves with uttering generalities, resounding platitudes and abstractions stated in metaphor.

Wilson Molested No Trust.

"They point to the antitrust laws, the trusts, the wrongs accomplished, the tyranny and the like, and then misstate our positions. Indeed, much do they say about prosecution and killing offenders, and yet with criminal laws existing in New Jersey, no trust magnate has been prosecuted or killed by Mr. Wilson."

Leaves for New York.

After the meeting tonight he left for New York, where he was scheduled to arrive tomorrow.

At New York, the governor will change to the private car "Ideal," formerly occupied by Colonel Roosevelt, and leave in a few hours for Watbury, Conn., for a noon meeting and a night address at Bridgeport.

Kirk-Kiliseh Falls Before Bulgarian Forces, With Big Loss

SERVIANS TAKE 5 TOWNS

Turkish Loss Reported to Be 3,000 Killed in Three-Day Battle

SOPIA, Oct. 24.—Kirk Kiliseh fell before the Bulgarian army at 11 o'clock this morning, according to the latest reports received tonight from Bulgarian sources.
The Turkish troops retired in disorder in the direction of Plovdiv, 14 miles to the southeast.
They left a battery of machine guns, 16 ammunition wagons and a large quantity of ammunition and food. Details of the capture are meager. An unofficial estimate puts the Bulgarian casualties at 12,000.

The fighting has been continuous since Tuesday.

The Bulgarians made steady advance throughout the night, but at a great sacrifice of life.

Battle Began Tuesday.

On Tuesday, the first army, under General Krieger, attacked the outer works of Adrianople in two large bodies. The northern detachment marched along both sides of the river Tundia, the right wing to the west of Tundia, the center to the east of Tundia, and the left wing advanced from the northeast along the road from Kirk-Kiliseh to Adrianople.

In the west another division, simultaneously attacked the Turkish lines on the heights of Chatalla, four miles west of the city. Another army, Bulgarian, column attacked the Turkish positions in the village of the Ardier.

Turks Leave Dead on Field.

The Bulgarians crossed the Arda river southwest of Adrianople, and advancing surprised the Turks, who retreated to that city, leaving 100 dead and 100 prisoners.

Fighting was resumed all along the line at dawn Wednesday. The northern columns captured several advanced Turkish posts at the point of the bayonet and pressed on toward Adrianople.

The Turks delivered a counter attack towards the north-east in the direction of Armutluk.

Servants Take Five Fords.

BELGRADE, Oct. 24.—Official announcement was made here tonight that the Serbian forces have occupied Noytchaz, Kristina Kumanova, Presova and Katschada.

Detachments of the Serbian army entered Kumanova this afternoon after annihilating the Turkish batteries. The fighting around that town lasted three days.

Turks Jump Into River.

SOPIA, Oct. 24.—The Bulgarians were attacked by 500 Turks in an engagement Tuesday at Mambur, near Adrianople. After an hour of heavy fighting the Turks were repulsed.

GET PAY CHECKS ON DARING RUSE

BOLD DAYLIGHT HOLDUP IN MINNEAPOLIS

Messenger Boy Relieved of 173 Checks Cash Number at Business Houses

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 24.—After a daring robbery in which 173 "Soo Line" pay checks, totalling $8,000, were secured by a ruse from a messenger boy, on one of the principal streets of the city this morning, two men visited a dozen department stores and other places of business here. This afternoon, before warning could be issued, and cashed about twenty checks valued conservatively at $2,000.

Later this afternoon and tonight it practically was impossible for the 2,000 bona-fide employees of the railway to secure cash for their checks as the result of the warning that was issued by the railway as soon as the robbery was discovered.

Robbers Evade Detection.

The robbers, the police declare, narrowly escaped detection a number of times. One disappeared, flag-laden with checks and with hundreds of dollars in their pockets, leaving the authorities with nothing upon which to work except a variety of descriptions.

According to the story of Oscar Christenson, the messenger boy, one of the men who later cashed the checks at various department stores approached him as he was carrying the checks from the road's general office to the freight station.

Boy Was Suspicious.

The stranger, the boy declared, told him he was from the postmaster's office and that he had been sent to take the checks back to the general office as the endorsement of an official had been omitted. The boy said he gave up the checks, but becoming suspicious, within a short time called N. H. Frost, the postmaster, and told him of the incident.

The police were notified immediately. The man narrowly escaped when they attempted to pressure him for the checks at a hotel which already had been notified of the theft. The clerk stepped from the window to telephone the police when the men ran from the door leaving the checks on the counter.

Col. Roosevelt Up and Is Dressed All Day--Ready to Work

COYSTER BAY, N. Y., Oct. 24.—From morning until night, Colonel Roosevelt was up and fully dressed today, walking unassisted about the house.

It was the first time since he was shot that he had been up and dressed in a day.

After a day's rest at home that he refused to stay upstairs in his room another day. He put on his khaki riding suit and surprised his family by appearing in the living room and saying he was going to have luncheon with the others.

Colonel Roosevelt was so much better that the physicians who have been attending him from New York to come for his wound thought it unnecessary to make a trip today.

Condition Steadily Improving.

Dr. Harry L. Tappan, the colonel's personal physician, and Dr. George W. Tappan, his brother, spent a few minutes with their patient in the morning and again later in the day and found that his condition was improving steadily.

The postmaster's change was his first and steady and ability. He went down to the dining room, but did not eat, and went to his study to write.

In spite of his injured condition, he found that he was able to handle his usual strength and to do his work as usual.

Colonel Roosevelt expects to leave for New York this afternoon.

He will be accompanied by his wife and daughter, and will be met by his friends at the New York hotel.

BECKER FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER IN FIRST DEGREE

Receives Verdict Unflinchingly—Mrs. Becker Swoons--Remanded to Tombs Prison for Sentence on Oct. 30--Will Appeal

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(Friday, 1 a. m.) Police Lieutenant Charles Becker was found guilty last night of murder in the first degree by the jury which has been trying him for instigating the death of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler. The verdict was pronounced at 12:02 o'clock this morning.

The verdict read: "Murder in the first degree."

Becker was remanded for sentence to the Tombs by Justice Goff until October 30.

Mrs. Becker, sitting outside the door of the court room, swooned when the verdict was announced.

Becker did not flinch when he heard the verdict pronounced by Harold B. Skinner, foreman of the jury.

John F. McIntyre, Becker's chief counsel, announced that he would take an immediate appeal, but beyond this he had nothing to say.

The 12 jurors filed into the court room at 11:55 o'clock. A minute later the defendant was brought in from the Tombs. Justice Goff had not yet entered the room, and for a moment Becker took a side seat. As he waited he scanned the faces of the jurors, but none of them returned his gaze. A tense silence prevailed.

At 12 o'clock Justice Goff entered the court room, and, bowing low to counsel, took his seat. The jury roll called.

That was all. When the last juror had answered, Justice Goff instructed the clerk to take the pledge of the defendant. Becker answered the questions in a low, firm voice. A court officer brought the questions to him written on a slip of paper, and as the prisoner read them to himself, he replied:

"Twenty years old, American citizen, born in Germany, address, 233 Audubon avenue, lieutenant of police; married, Protestant, mother living; habits temperate; never convicted before."

When Becker's voice died away, Mr. McIntyre asked that all further proceedings be deferred for one week, until I can prepare the proper motion for appeal."

"I will defer sentence," announced Justice Goff, "until October 30, and remand the prisoner until that date."

Becker glanced at the judge and vested his eyes a moment on the jury. Then he turned and, followed by a jail warden, walked with unflinching rapid steps up the aisle of the court room and disappeared through the door leading over the "Bridge of Sighs" to the Tombs.

JURY DELIBERATED ALMOST EIGHT HOURS.

The jury had deliberated nearly eight hours before reaching the verdict, although the case had been in their hands since 10 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Actual deliberation began at 10 o'clock, when the doors of the jury room swung behind them on their return from luncheon.

What happened behind those doors, how the debate ebbed and flowed, who stood out eight hours against the final verdict, how many ballots were cast—these were matters in whose secrets each juror was pledged.

While the jury was making up its mind, absolute stillness, heightened by

To Give Party on Her 92nd Birthday

Mrs. M. A. Garstin, mother of William Garstin, Democratic candidate for county supervisor, celebrates her ninety-second birthday today, and has issued 50 invitations to a birthday tea to be given at 1 o'clock this afternoon at the Gloucester sanatorium, where she has resided for a number of years. Mrs. Garstin, who is widely known here, was born in England on the day when George IV was crowned king. She is remarkably familiar with both English and American politics and is widely read.

Collier's Weekly Is Out For Theodore Roosevelt

Through the recent resignation of Norman Hapgood of the editorial staff of Collier's Weekly, the fact was made public by Robert J. Collier that his publication would support the Progressive party.

Therefore, during the few remaining days of the campaign, this great publication will be a Bull Moose.

Collier's has been steadily turning toward the support of Governor Wilson since the Baltimore convention. Next week it will appear as an out and out supporter of Col. Theodore Roosevelt and the Bull Moose party.

It was recalled that Mr. Collier was an old friend of Colonel Roosevelt, and that while his weekly had been coming out more and more strongly for Governor Wilson, it had patted the Bull Moose candidate on the back from time to time.

"Does Mr. Hapgood's retirement mean," the reporters asked, "that you will swing to Colonel Roosevelt and the Bull Moose?"

"You bet it does," said Mr. Collier with emphasis. "Then you will abandon Governor Wilson?"

"You can hardly abandon that which has already been abandoned. I am with Colonel Roosevelt not because of personal admiration for him, although I do admire him greatly, but because I feel that the Progressive party is a movement backed by a great moral force."

LABOR LEADER STUMPING IND. FOR PROGRESSIVES

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Another big labor man has come out with reasons for the support of the Progressive ticket. It is William D. Hunter, president of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, who is now stumping Indiana for the Progressive national ticket and for Governor Debs.

The American Federation of Labor has been linked during the last few years with the labor movement, and it is generally recognized that the labor movement has been the backbone of the Progressive party.

As the Progressive party has been formed with a better platform in favor of labor than either the Democratic or Republican party, I believe the laboring men of America should stand at each bay of progress and work for the good of the entire and that is what I am doing.

It is the laborer who is the backbone of the Progressive party, and it is the laborer who is the backbone of the Progressive party.

It is the laborer who is the backbone of the Progressive party, and it is the laborer who is the backbone of the Progressive party.

It is the laborer who is the backbone of the Progressive party, and it is the laborer who is the backbone of the Progressive party.

It is the laborer who is the backbone of the Progressive party, and it is the laborer who is the backbone of the Progressive party.

It is the laborer who is the backbone of the Progressive party, and it is the laborer who is the backbone of the Progressive party.

TAFT ELIMINATED, SAYS M'CORMICK

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The political atmosphere is gradually clearing and altogether to the satisfaction of the Progressive party, declared Medill McCormick, vice-chairman of the national Progressive party, in a statement today. "Reports from all parts of the country but confirm the showing of Taft eliminated as a factor much to be considered, and reducing the contest for the presidency to one between Roosevelt and Wilson, with the Progressive candidate gaining. The indefinite attitude of Wilson on the main issues is counting against him. There are more than prospects of a Roosevelt landslide.

"Various causes have contributed to this admirable condition. Senator Dixon of Montana, chairman of the Progressive national committee and manager of the campaign, has been a wholesome contributor to public information in appearing as a witness before the senatorial committee investigating the nature and extent of contributions to presidential campaigns. It was not merely his revelation of the limited monetary resources of the Progressive party that counted, but—to a greater extent—his open and fearless claim, supported by the known facts that the committee confined itself altogether to Roosevelt and delving investigation into the Taft and Wilson funds until the results can have no political effect. Senator Dixon had the committee in his hands and improved the opportunity right by letting in the light. It would be better to say that he let it out, for there could be no suppression of his testimony and the country at large was enlightened as to the more immediate object of the investigation into ancient political history which has so far resulted in nothing.

GOV. OSBORN, MICH., ONE OF 13 INJURED IN CHICAGO WRECKS

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Governor Osborn of Michigan was one of the 13 persons injured here today in collisions between street cars and trains, due to a dense fog. The governor escaped with a slight hurt to his right arm and Mrs. Osborn, who accompanied him, was unhurt, but four of the victims of the several accidents will die, it is said.

The first wreck occurred when a Big Four train crashed into the rear end of a Michigan Central train at the Seventeenth street crossing. Governor and Mrs. Osborn were passengers on the latter coming to Chicago. Beside the governor, three women were slightly injured in this wreck.

A second wreck occurred when a Pennsylvania train struck a street car at One Hundred and Sixth street. Owing to fog the gateman did not see the car or the train and left the gates open. Seven passengers on the street car were hurt, of whom four probably will die.

BEVERIDGE IS TO APPEAR BEFORE COMMITTEE TODAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—With the examination of H. C. Pettit of Indianapolis and former Senator Albert J. Beveridge, both summoned for tomorrow, the senate campaign contributions committee expects to conclude the present series of hearings. Senator Beveridge has been urged to appear tomorrow but if he fails to reach Washington by tonight, he will be examined Saturday morning.

Both Mr. Pettit and Mr. Beveridge will be asked about the fund of $57,500 which, according to testimony before the committee, was sent to Senator Beveridge by George W. Perkins, Edward L. McLean and Gifford Pinchot and returned to the donors.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE AIDS TEMPERANCE

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 24.—Washington, D. C., will be the convention city in 1913 of the National Women's Christian Temperance union, which concluded tonight's a week's convention here.

The closing hours of the national body were devoted to woman's suffrage. In addresses delivered by delegates from states in which women have been accorded the voting privilege, it was asserted that there had been marked improvement in political morals, the cause of temperance had prospered and a prompt betterment in woman's social and economic status had resulted.

Several of the speakers launched caustic attacks upon Dr. Clarence True Wilson of Kansas City, superintendent of the temperance department of the Methodist Episcopal church, who is the author of a brochure declaration that in states where equal suffrage exists the cause of temperance has been set back 25 years.

Will File Protest. The convention voted to file a protest against the brochure with the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church and to send a letter to Dr. Wilson, stating that his pamphlet had been seized by the brewers, where equal suffrage is an issue to encompass its defeat.

Two addresses today attracted special attention. One was by Mrs. Emma L. Starrett of Nebraska, on "Civic Problems," and the other by Mrs. Margaret Dye Ellis of Washington, D. C., on "The Year's Work."

Mrs. Starrett made a plea for the election of public officials with less lawless and more backbone, and advised her hearers to participate in every campaign and to fight every candidate who would not declare his intention to enforce laws that tended to the righteousness.

Many Valuable Relics Are Promised to El Paso County Pioneer Society

"THE OLD MILL," PAINTED BY WILLIAM BANCROFT.

This picture was presented to the El Paso County Pioneer society at the semi-annual meeting last night by the artist, William Bancroft, a Colorado Springs man. The mill was formerly located on Mill street, South Cascade avenue, where many pioneers ground their grain. The mill was a famous landmark during the gold hunting period and Mr. Bancroft's painting is the only reproduction of the structure known here.

Mrs. William Wells Price was re-elected president of the El Paso County Pioneer society at the semi-annual meeting held last night at her home, 215 South Nevada avenue. The other officers elected were: James Hutchinson Kerr, first vice president; Mrs. Mary B. Ely, second vice president; William Garstin, secretary; Helen Foster, treasurer.

Although no definite steps were taken last night on the proposed club house in Monument Valley park, a committee consisting of Arthur Perkins, chairman, M. A. Foster and Irving Howbert was appointed to investigate the construction of a fire proof home to be built of either stone or reinforced concrete. The valuable collection of relics will be placed in this building.

Old Painting Presented.
The presentation to the society of an oil painting of "The Old Mill," by William Bancroft, a well-known Colorado Springs artist, and of several other relics was an interesting part of last night's meeting. The mill was formerly a famous landmark in this city, having been located on South Cascade avenue near Mill street. It was partly destroyed by fire about 20 years ago and the remaining timbers were removed many years ago. Bancroft caught the inspiration of the old scene and painted the mill before it was destroyed.

The mill was used by pioneers for grinding their grain and was an important part of the life of the community during the early pioneer days. Bancroft's work is well known to Colorado Springs people. He has a silver medal from the Royal Academy of Art at London and has had exhibitions in New York and Chicago that have won him national fame. As a painter of Rocky Mountain scenes, many of his paintings are well known here, a very famous one being "The Miners Last Dollar," which was purchased by the late W. S. Stratton for $500.

Painting by Walter Paris.
Another relic of much interest presented last night was a picture of a rural scene in Pueblo, showing the cowpits of the city before the development took place. The picture was painted by Walter Paris of Philadelphia, was given to Helen Hunt Jackson and was raffled by her for the benefit of the first public library in Colorado Springs. The picture was won by Thomas Burnham and given to Mrs. Bancroft. A "blind user" which was found hidden under the floor in the building formerly occupying the site of the Exchange National bank was presented to the society last night by Sol Klein. This, it is said, was part of the gambling devices used in an underground contraband whiskey establishment and when the place was raided by officers, was carried out and hidden, never to be recovered by the owner.

In her report last night Mrs. Price announced that there had been 14 donations and nine loans of relics to the society. Among these are a collection of Alaskan-Indian relics valued at $20,000, owned by A. L. Dickerson. A set of valuable books, wanted by the Smithsonian Institute, has been offered by James Hutchinson Kerr. These relics will be placed in the new club house, as the present collection is already too large for the lobby of the court house, where they are located.

Meeting Well Attended.
The meeting last night was the best attended since the society's organization, there being 75 active members present. Following the business meeting an informal program was given. Mrs. Wendell R. Price sang "My Old Kentucky Home," and "The Gypsy Song." Miss LaVerne Pratt gave several piano selections and Miss Genevieve Turner read extracts from "The Little Minister." Refreshments were served. Mrs. Marcus A. Foster presided at the punch bowl.

Denver Married Woman Being Sued for Divorce by Divorced Husband

DENVER, Oct. 24.—A curiously involved matrimonial tangle became known here today when Mrs. Anna M. Divorced-Secher-Covington-Leyner, wife of J. George Leyner, president of the J. George Leyner Engineering Works of Denver, was served yesterday with a summons and complaint in a suit for annulment of her intromission to James M. Covington, filed in the superior court of Chicago. Covington, who does not, or did not, know that the now Mrs. Leyner has divorced him—charged her with being the wife of George Secher when she married him.

GREAT PREPARATIONS BEING MADE FOR MINING MEET

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 24.—With temporary offices opened at 1120-21 Paulsen building, Spokane, detailed arrangements for the fifteenth annual convention of the American Mining congress that will be held in this city on November 27, 28 and 29, 1912, are well under way. The machinery of the organization that will gather close to 2,000 delegates from all parts of the globe, though particularly from the United States, is now at work. Little doubt is held but that the gathering this year of the organization that has come to represent, preeminently, the general specific interests of the mining industry in all its multifarious branches will be the largest in its history.

In his complaint, Covington sets up that he married the defendant at St. Joseph, Mo., on June 13, 1906, and that in October of 1906 he learned she had a husband, George Secher, whom she married in 1903. They then parted. After the separation, Mrs. Covington came to Denver, and while working as a waitress, in September, 1911, filed a divorce proceeding against Covington, charging non-support and desertion.

On January 3, 1912, the decree was granted, by default. Covington's whereabouts being unknown. Mrs. Covington averred. Following the divorce, Mrs. Covington married Mr. Leyner in New York, about the first of this year.

Mr. Leyner declared tonight that he never married George Secher, or whether his wife ever married a man at that name. He stoutly declared he would assist his wife in her defense. He himself is divorced from his first wife, who advised cruelty, and obtained a divorce of $25,000 from him, July 22, 1911.

M. J. WINN, WEALTHY HORSEMAN, IN CITY

Owens Famous Juarez, Church-ill Downs and Empire Race Tracks

"The racing game's brightest years are before it, and I look for the sport to take a topnotch position next season," said M. J. Winn, famous race-track owner and multimillionaire of Louisville, Ky., who arrived yesterday morning with his three daughters to visit here before the opening of his famous Juarez track at Juarez, Mex., October 28. Mr. Winn is the owner of Churchill Downs, the famous track at Louisville, which is the oldest in America, and also owns the Empire track in New York.

"Going to the recent ruling of the supreme court in New York, we will be able to open our tracks in that state again next spring," said Mr. Winn. "The new ruling is called the 'directors' liability,' and will allow the use of the racetracks. With the game opened in New York, the entire country should see an awakening in the sport."

That the season which closed last week at the Churchill Downs course was the "greatest ever," is the opinion of Mr. Winn. Improvements in the Juarez track have been made this year, and racing men from all over the country are flocking to the Mexican border town.

"The added excitement of two or three revolutions in Mexico increase interest in the Juarez races," said Mr. Winn. "We never have any trouble with any of the factions about our races, and the Mexican soldiers spend much time watching the ponies."

Mr. Winn and his daughter are at the Antlers hotel.

TODAY IS LAST DAY TO CHANGE REGISTRATION

Today is the last day when voters who have moved since registering will be permitted to change their registration. The record, which is for change of address only, will close this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the office of the county clerk. Working people who could not appear during the day, last night took advantage of the opportunity given them to change their registration, when the office remained open until 9 o'clock. More than 25 voters changed their registration during the evening, making a total of 125 for the day, and about 325 since Monday morning.

DETECTIVES PICK UP TWO MEN ON ROBBERY CHARGE

Ed Riley and Frank Dalley were arrested yesterday on a charge of stealing a suitcase from Narciso Soriano, a Mexican ranchman, in the Denver & Rio Grande depot, Wednesday night. Soriano was on his way home to Espanola, N. M., from Kansas City, where he had taken a consignment of sheep and the stolen property consisted of presents for his wife and baby, and his personal effects, including a revolver and dagger.

He left his suitcase a moment while arranging his transportation at the ticket window for transfer from the Rock Island to the Rio Grande. When he turned around, the suitcase was gone. Late that night, Riley and Dalley appeared at 120 West Cimarron street, the home of a man named Montgomery, and after he had declined to buy the contents of the suitcase, asked for lodging. Upon promising that they would help him in his work the next morning, Montgomery permitted them to sleep in a shed in the yard.

The men were still sleeping when Montgomery went to work, but when he returned at noon they had disappeared. He discovered charred fragments of a suitcase in his kitchen stove.

Detectives Rallsback and Gavin, who investigated the theft, arrested Riley early yesterday afternoon, on West Huerfano street on his way to Colorado City with some of the alleged stolen property in his possession. He was wearing two shirts, and, tucked about his clothing, was found a revolver, a dagger, two pairs of shoes and some handkerchiefs, all identified as the property of the Mexican Dalley was arrested last night in the Rio Grande yards.

HORACE E. JENCKS AND MISS SHIDLER MARRIED

Horace E. Jencks, a carrier for the local postoffice, and Miss Ruth Shidler were married last night, and will make their home at 808 South Nevada avenue. Both are former students at the Colorado Springs High school, and both are members of the First Christian church. Jencks was a member of the Delphian Literary society at the High school and was prominent in school affairs. A number of his acquaintances visited his new home last night and decorated it plentifully with signs.

PLACE OF HOLDING HEAD CAMP NOT YET DECIDED

No selection has yet been made of the place for holding the head camp of the M. W. A. in 1914, according to Dr. J. A. Rutledge, superintendent of the Modern Woodmen sanatorium, who returned yesterday from a visit to the head camp in Rock Island. He says that Colorado Springs may secure the head camp meeting by raising the necessary guarantee of $10,000. Several other cities are in the field for the meeting.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

At 8 o'clock this evening there will be the second of the fortnightly programs to be given by the association throughout the winter. There will be a musical program followed by a concert about 10 o'clock at which all women of the city are cordially invited.

TWO COLLEGE GIRLS, UNAIDED, BUILD CABIN ON CHEYENNE MT.

To construct, without assistance, a four-room cabin out of native timber and rock gathered from the mountain-side, is the feat accomplished in the last three months by two Colorado Springs girls, students of Colorado college, on Cheyenne mountain, south of this city.

Nestling in the pines on the east slope of the famous mountain in the cluster of cabins in the little colony that Colorado Springs people established there a year ago is the cabin constructed by the Misses Harriet and Agnes Bartlett, daughters of Dr. William L. Bartlett, of 2220 North Nevada avenue.

Colorado women have accomplished big things in various lines usually taken over by men, but the accomplishment of these two girls is the more remarkable owing to the circumstances under which they labored. Five miles from Colorado Springs up the steep trail leading to the colony the girls trudged day after day last summer, carrying a considerable distance much of the material used in construction.

Early in June, when they suggested to their father the building of a cabin on the mountain, Dr. Bartlett made the proposition that he would buy the lot and material for them if they would do the work. He hardly expected them to take his offer seriously but they did so, and started with enthusiasm.

They sketched plans for a mountain home, and started work in July. The home for the foundation was prepared by the girls, whose mason work was high class. Heavy timbers were rolled down the mountain side and put in place and when completed the foundation was equal to the lot of most masons. A large fireplace is part of their masonry work. The task took the girls several weeks when they were ready for the timber stage of the cabin.

Big logs were obtained and rolled some 1,000 feet down the mountain. This work took them until the middle of August, and then they were ready for the interior. With the true instinct of woman for tasteful decorations they finished the interior in rough mission style and although not quite completed the cabin will be ready for occupancy next summer.

The building, called "the shack" by the girls, consists of a large living and dining room, a kitchen and two bedrooms. A broad porch will be built next summer.

After completing their work almost Herculean for girls of their age, neither more than 20 years, the girls, bronzed with the sun and wind of the long summer days, claimed they had the best vacation ever spent. And their father agrees with them.

No name has been given to the cabin, but the girls' friends strongly urge the title of "Suffragettes' Rust."

PROGRESSIVES DISCUSS ISSUES OF CAMPAIGN

A well attended Progressive meeting was held last evening at the home of Mary J. Green, Progressive candidate for the legislature, at 525 East Camarillo street, and several talks covering various aspects of the movement were made.

Attorney C. W. Dolph discussed the domination of politics and the corruption of public officers by special interests, and said that no relief from present political conditions is to be looked for from either of the old parties. He denounced the pass evil and advocated the recall of all officials including judges. W. W. Gail spoke of the industrial conditions against which the Progressive party voices the protest of the great mass of people, and said that this is the party on which the workmen of the country can unite with the promise of accomplishing something.

Brief talks were also made by Judge Robert Kerr, Miss Laura A. Leech and Thomas E. Thomas, candidates on the Progressive ticket.

SIEGEL AND COOPER MAY OPEN STORE IN SPRINGS

Siegel & Cooper, the Chicago department store firm, may erect a four-story fireproof building on the northwest corner of Pikes Peak and Nevada avenues, according to A. C. Denison, of this city, who has been conducting negotiations between them and Lach and Clough, also of this city, the owner of the property.

The building, covering 100 feet on Pikes Peak avenue and 150 feet to the alley in the rear, would cost in the neighborhood of $300,000. It is believed that the negotiations will come to a successful conclusion by November 15.

COUNTY TICKET OF TWO PARTIES NOT ON BALLOT

The tickets of two political parties—the Citizens and the Prohibition—will appear on the official ballot of El Paso county at the election November 6, without legislative or county nominations under the list of state candidates. No effort was made by representatives of the Citizens party to file nominations in El Paso county. The Prohibition party failed to file nominations because the necessary 100 signatures to the petition could not be secured.

WILL FINISH DAM NO. 2 IN NOVEMBER; COST $19,000

Reservoir No. 2 of the Colorado Springs water system will be completed by November 10, if favorable weather continues, said Mayor Avery, yesterday.

For the first time in several weeks, sufficient laborers are employed on the construction, the contractors with the aid of Mayor Avery and other officials, finally having overcome many difficulties in retaining them. The force is now complete with 35 men.

The improvement representing an investment of about $19,000 will double the capacity of the reservoir to 180,000 gallons. The greatest depth of water in the dam is about 75 feet. The work was begun by the city in September 1911, but discontinued a month later because of heavy snow, after an expenditure of about $3,000. The contract to complete the reservoir was awarded last spring to Ordway & Slope for about $15,000.

The reservoir is being built 10 feet higher along the entire width of 600 feet with 15 inches of rock revetment on the inner surface to prevent wash-outs by the water.

MAYOR HAMBLE GOES OVER SCHREIBER'S HEAD

A hasty countermanding by Mayor P. J. Hamble this week of orders given in regard to the printing of the official notice of the election on calling a charter convention, scheduled for November 8, in connection with the general election, was probably all that saved the election from becoming invalid because of a technicality. The entire difficulty resulted from a stormy session at the meeting of the city council Monday night, when the council rejected the opinion of prominent Colorado Springs attorneys, whom Mayor Hamble had consulted, in favor of that of City Attorney F. F. Schreiber, and held that the voters could express themselves on both of the propositions submitted instead of on only one.

After the meeting, Schreiber advised Mrs. Angerman, the city clerk, to make certain changes in the official notice which was being published in a Colorado City weekly paper. These changes were made and the type for the revised notice is said to have been set up, when it developed that the old notice had been printed only twice before and that the new notice could be published only twice before election. As the law requires that notice of election be published for three consecutive weeks before the election, and as the publisher is required to make affidavit of this having been done, the election was in a fair way to be declared invalid because of improper publication. The only way to secure proper publication of the notice was to have the notice printed again as it stood before Schreiber's adviser revision.

Mayor Countermands Order.

For this reason, Mayor Hamble ordered the original notice to stand, and this week's issue of the Colorado City Argus will appear today with it in that form. If the election is yet to be declared void, Mayor Hamble is confident it will not be because of improper publication of the notice.

In the meantime, the question as to whether the voters may legally express themselves on both of the measures submitted, one to call a charter convention and the other to reduce the number of wards in the city from four to two, is still undecided. Schreiber gave it as his opinion to the council Monday night that they may, but Mayor Hamble has the opinion of Colorado Springs attorneys that they may not.

Sought Outside Advice.

Mayor Hamble did not state to the council, and has not made public since, the reasons for going to other attorneys than Schreiber for advice, but he is believed to have done this because of the difficulties that arose in July when the council acted on Schreiber's advice in arranging for a charter election. On his advice they set two days for registration, but when the city clerk went to notify County Clerk Shelden of this it developed that three days were necessary. This fact, because of stated periods of time required for transacting other matters in regard to the election, rendered it impossible to hold the election at that time. This trouble is said to have influenced the mayor to go elsewhere for advice. The county attorney, Willis L. Strachan, is said to have refused to advise him in the matter of the present election.

This is the third time arrangements for holding a charter election have been made in Colorado City within the last year. It was found impossible to hold the other two elections because of technicalities and the difficulties now threaten a similar fate for the present election.

Henry Miller and Margaret Anglin found "Heartsease" a very convenient vehicle for a time and the Burns people do it very well, considering the work they put in on it. It is said that their Cripple Creek performance was not satisfactory, and perhaps that served as a good dress rehearsal, for there was little to complain of last evening. The settings were quite beautiful and the ladies displayed the best they have in the way of gowns. This was particularly true of the third act, which is the best of the four.

DINNER PARTY GIVEN FOR O. C. SHACKELFORD

O. C. Shackelford, who left last night with his family for San Diego, Cal., to spend the winter, was presented with a large bill Wednesday night at the annual gathering of the Central Christian church, in token of the work he has done in the church and the friendship of the members for him. The gathering was held at the church and a chicken pie supper was served by the ladies of the congregation, covers being paid for 25. An election was held at the same gathering, Fred Kistler being chosen as an elder in place of Shackelford. W. H. Brenner was re-elected as secretary, C. O. Remy and Roy Zinn were chosen as deacons. Remy being rejected.

"HEARTSEASE" PROVES PLEASING PERFORMANCE

By H. S. R.

"Heartsease," the Burns stock bill that opened last night, teaches all of us who have tried to write and sell plays—and that means almost everybody, so we are told—that the English are very crude when it comes to stealing a play or an opera. According to the play they stealthily carry off the manuscript. In New York they do it much more artistically, they take the idea and, politely, send you back the manuscript. Then there is no come-back.

But that is neither here nor there; the authors of whom Charles Klein is chief, weave a very pretty romance. It is English drawing room and modern as played last evening, although at times it has been staged as costume. Eighteenth century. It has to do with a young author, who loves a young woman of the nobility, breaks into society where there are scheming grand dames, a titled villain who gets hold of his manuscript and produces the opera. Of course it comes out all right, or why should it give a performance? It has to come out sugar coated or we would not any of us want it.

Henry Miller and Margaret Anglin found "Heartsease" a very convenient vehicle for a time and the Burns people do it very well, considering the work they put in on it. It is said that their Cripple Creek performance was not satisfactory, and perhaps that served as a good dress rehearsal, for there was little to complain of last evening. The settings were quite beautiful and the ladies displayed the best they have in the way of gowns. This was particularly true of the third act, which is the best of the four.

that is sometimes trying. He played Bri Temple, which was Mr. Miller's role, and he and Miss Wayne, as Margaret Neville, displayed considerable emotional talent in the third act. Miss Wayne found the part of Margaret quite suited to her capabilities, and in the act referred to was as dainty as a Dresden china doll.

Ross Birchett as Captain O'Hara and Claudia White, the new ingenue, had opportunity to display better work than in "Seven Days," as they were cast in the line of work that they came to play. Earle Mitchell and other members of the company who do not often get an opportunity, were better cast last evening. Alfred Cross was the Sir Geoffrey Pomfret, and the villain of the piece. He carried it without much effort, but it is a type of work not in his line. Earle Gardner played the role of Mayor Twombly acceptably as did Miss Ferguson as Lady O'Hara and Miss Hart as the scheming Lady Neville.

FLINT IS MINERALIZED ANIMALS

No wonder of nature is more startling than the fact that flint stone consists of mineralized bodies of plants, just as coal consists of mineralized vegetable matter. The animals are believed to have been incased in animal gum, coated with siliceous shells, as the wheat straw of today coated with a glassy covering of silica. Geologists are not agreed as to whether the flint is formed by the masses of the minute animals whether the flint forms a scum or the countless millions of tiny creatures.

FAMS PLAYING MEDIOCRE FOOTBALL, SAYS ECKERSALL

By WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

For two more teams, Iowa and Michigan, have been eliminated from the championship football race by Chicago and Wisconsin, respectively. Michigan's victory over Ohio State, Yale's triumph over the Army, the easy manner in which Princeton disposed of Syracuse, the overwhelming defeat of Auburn by Harvard, followers of football can draw their own conclusions as to which are the strongest teams in the east and west.

Yesterday's contests did a great deal to bring out the strength of the teams which will battle later in the season sectional supremacy. In some instances good football was played, while in others the brand was decidedly off, and although games were over in eleven which displayed glaring weaknesses, the faults of these squads were remedied as quickly as possible before the crucial battles began.

Maroons Weak in Tackling.

Although Chicago won from Iowa because of a great rally in the fourth quarter, Coach Stagg has a herculean task on his hands to rectify the faults shown in this conflict. For the first time in this season it is doubtful if a Chicago team has given a worse exhibition of tackling in the last five years. The Maroons seemed to go into their opponents blindly and all-out, or Parsons had to do his best to make a short sidestep to evade attempts of being brought down.

The Maroon players may not have known the knack of breaking a stiff arm, and even the big linemen were pushed aside by lighter men. In striking contrast to the miserable work of the local eleven was the hard, deadly tackling of the visiting team. The Hawkeyes tackled so hard that the man with the ball invariably was knocked two or three yards after he was hit.

On several occasions the Iowa backs got out around the Chicago ends for substantial gains, and when Halback Dick made his sensational run from a spread formation at least four Maroons had their hands on him before he was finally brought to earth. This fault must be rectified before Wisconsin is met, as the Badger backs will not meet as the Badger backs will not have much trouble in evading the local eleven.

Bad Football by Chicago.

Although the game was interesting from the standpoint of the spectators, a lot of bad football was played. Punting was the principal weakness of both eleven and in recovering the ball Chicago had all the luck. In all justice to Stagg's warriors this can be attributed to Stagg's teachings of following the oval, but the Maroons fumbled as much as the visitors.

At times Chicago appeared to let down and the men did not play the even game, offensively and defensively, which generally characterizes a Midway eleven. During certain stages of the game Iowa had little trouble in gaining through the line and it was a frequent occurrence to see a Maroon forward charged back by an opponent. Large holes were opened in the Iowa's forward line especially when Iowa was near the Chicago line.

No coach in the country is more aware of these faults than Stagg and the team which faces Wisconsin at Madison on November 2 in the crucial battle of the conference race, is certain to be a much better one than the one which faced Iowa. That the players will receive long and strenuous drills before the Badgers are not assured and unless Saturday's faults are rectified the Maroons are in for a triumph from the Badgers.

ATTELL GETS DRAW IN WALSH FIGHT

BOSTON, Oct. 24.—The fight of San Francisco, former featherweight champion, and Jimmie Walsh of Boston, fought 12 two-minute rounds to a draw tonight. Walsh insisted on the time of the rounds being shortened when Attell refused to get on the scales, the articles calling for both men to make weight.

Attell took a lead in the early part of the contest by his lightning, frequently getting Walsh in a corner and beating a rapid tattoo on his stomach. After the seventh round Walsh kept the Californian at a distance with stiff left punches to the jaw.

CHANCE READY TO TRY OUT FOR HIS OWN TEAM

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Frank Chance, after declaring last night that Johnny Evers had his very best wishes as manager of the Chicago National League team, made the surprising

CHANCE CHANGES TACTICS

Frank I. Chance, the deposed manager of the Chicago Cubs, who says he has enough money and will work with raw recruits for $1,200 a year, "it necessary" statement that he would attach his signature to any kind of a contract. President Murphy would offer him, even though it called for more than $1,200, and that he would report to the club and try for a place on the team.

"I don't care about the money," said Chance. "I am giving my word that if Murphy offers me a contract outside that of manager, I will sign it. I will come back, go on the training trip and work as hard as any new recruit to get in a place on the team. I say that right at the present time I am turning down an offer for $15,000 next season, which hinges on the condition that I get my release from Murphy."

"If Murphy doesn't offer me a contract at all, I understand I will be free agent by March 1. That, of course, will be too late to sign with any club as manager, so I guess he has the say as to whether I play ball next year."

"I have more money now than I ever thought was in the world for me when I began playing ball. I have all I need for the rest of my life, and for that reason, I can afford to play for the figure I say."

ADOPT NEW SCALE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP BOXING

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—For the first time in the history of boxing in the United States, an official agreement will be made by the New York State Athletic commission to fix an international standard of weights for championship fights in the various classes. The commission has adopted the scale recommended by the International Amateur Athletic Union, covering the sport in England, France and Australia. The new scale, which will be adopted by the New York State Athletic commission, now in effect, is the following: Heavyweight, 175 pounds; Light heavyweight, 160 pounds; Middleweight, 145 pounds; Welterweight, 135 pounds; Lightweight, 125 pounds; Flyweight, 115 pounds; Bantamweight, 105 pounds; Featherweight, 95 pounds; and Lightweight, 85 pounds.

The commission, in fixing the scale, also stipulated that the various weight limits should be made at the ringside. Weighing his many opponents in this country, and it is believed that a new standard of this type will be agreed upon later by the international bodies concerned.

The commission's schedule calls for a new class to include fighters, for heavyweights, 175 pounds and over, to be in the category of full-blooded heavyweights. The idea is to do away with contests in which a man weighing 165 pounds meets an opponent carrying 200 pounds.

In addition to the existing program, the commission has entered into an agreement with England, France and Australia to promote the which uniform rules and regulations will be mutually recognized.

TIGERS EXPECT SEASON'S HARDEST GAME TOMORROW

A squad of 30 husky Nebraskaans, competing in the football game, will arrive in Colorado Springs tonight to do battle tomorrow afternoon.

Coach Rutledge is running his team

FULLBACK MOYE, TIGERS.

One of the greatest surprises at Colorado college this fall was the discovery by one Ralph Moye, a junior at the college, that he could play real football. Moye was on the sports last season and didn't get much of a start, but this year his charging plunges and his almost defense have marked him as a sure varsity player.

MUNCASTER PASS EXPERT

Muncaster, the husky, fleetfooted end of the Tigers has proven himself one of the best forward pass shooters in the state this season. His over-the-shoulder, hand-tossing and charging offense has marked him as one of Rutledge's best products this fall. His running made following the ball. Rutledge supplies the other part of the faster pair of ends for years.

through special practice instead of scrimmage, to keep the men in good trim. The entire squad is in good shape physically, and they have no fear of becoming stale. The team has been spending much time on the forward pass and it is believed that it will be successful in more plays than in the Eagle game, made Saturday, when four were completed.

The game will start at 2:30 o'clock, and this new change in the team has proven satisfactory to fans. Tickets for the game have been placed on sale, and the management expects a large crowd.

The entire Tiger squad probably will get into tomorrow's game. There are substitutes for every place on the team.

OFFER CHANCE A CHANCE TO MANAGE BIG PIER

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—Since Frank Chance, manager of the Chicago Cubs, has announced his decision to quit baseball and retire to his ranch, business propositions have been hurled at him from all sources. One of these propositions has been made by Eddie Mayer, the Los Angeles brewer, in which the Peerless Leader is asked to accept with Jim Jeffries, the control of Mayer pier, now being built at Venice.

Eddie Mayer and Chance are great friends. Mayer conceived the idea of inducing Jeff and Chance to take charge of his big pier being built at Venice, and the more he thought about the subject the more encouraged he became.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1912.

A HEAVY REGISTRATION

THE total registration in Colorado Springs is 13,981, or more than 50 per cent greater than that two years ago, which was 9,250. The county registration so far is 7,945, with two days of enrollment yet to come, making the total registered voters in El Paso County aggregate 21,896 thus far.

This is a record registration, and shows the keen interest taken by the voters in the vital issues of the day. The enrollment in this city is especially heavy. Four years ago, at the last Presidential election, about 9,700 votes were cast in Colorado Springs, or little more than two-thirds the present registration. From the interest manifested, it is extremely probable that only a very small proportion of those registered will fail to cast a ballot November 5, so that the vote here this year will far exceed that of 1908.

PROF. WILSON'S DEMOCRACY

"I DO not believe in democracy—the rule of the many. I believe in aristocracy—the rule of the few; but I wish an aristocracy of brains, not of wealth."

"I disapprove of the Chautauqua idea, the attempt to give a smattering of culture to everybody, which results in securing conceit without knowledge."

"I am opposed to the higher education for the common people; somebody must do the dirty work of the world; why shouldn't the children of the working classes be brought up to do the work their parents are now doing?"—Statements made by Woodrow Wilson to J. W. Park.

The above astonishing revelation as to what are his actual views, as privately expressed, by the Democratic Presidential candidate, comes because of a letter addressed to Mr. J. W. Park of Los Angeles, Cal., asking for a contribution to the Wilson campaign. He was supposed to be in favor of Wilson, having graduated from Princeton, of which institution Wilson was at one time president. Part of his reply is as follows:

"As a candidate for president, I deem it right to say, that not only from a perusal of his published works, but also from a personal conversation with him (Wilson), I know he (Wilson) is not a Democrat, is not a Progressive, and that if elected he will prove a disappointment to the mass of the American people whose votes have placed him in the nation's executive seat."

"On one occasion Dr. Wilson said to me, 'I do not believe in democracy—the rule of the many. I believe in aristocracy—the rule of the few; but I wish an aristocracy of brains, not of wealth.' On another occasion he said to me, 'I disapprove of the Chautauqua idea, the attempt to give a smattering of culture to everybody, which results in securing conceit without knowledge.' On another occasion he said to me, 'I am opposed to higher education for the common people, somebody must do the dirty work of the world, why shouldn't the children of the working class be brought up to do the work their parents are now doing?'"

"It is claimed that his views have changed in recent years. Yet less than three years ago he bitterly denounced labor unions before an audience of Princeton students; within a few days he has effusively thanked Boss Taggart and Sullivan for their aid in securing his nomination, has sent the following telegram to

"Boss" Murphy to the effect that such heartless men as Tammany are the first of liberty burning. At the present moment in your city of New York, the Herald, the Sun, in fact, every reactionary journal, every organ of special privilege, is either openly or secretly exerting every effort to accomplish the election of Dr. Wilson. These organs of Wall Street have facilities for knowing a candidate not enjoyed by the people generally. They seldom err in their judgment of man."

There is Mr. Wilson's "Confession of Faith." What will the American people think of it? As to his supporters, Mr. Park makes the right conclusion. The nub of the thing, however, is in Wilson's own words. What has he to say about it?

HELP GOOD ROADS ALONG

RECOGNIZING the fact that one of the greatest needs of this state at the present time is good roads, the County Commissioners of Colorado have gone on record as favoring the proposition to vote bonds to the extent of ten million dollars for such improvement in the next ten years. If this issue carries, it means an expenditure of one million each year for road construction.

Colorado's assessed valuation naturally increases, and the further increase which will come as a result of good roads will be more than enough to care for the interest on these bonds. To care for these bonds means an absurdly small increase even at the present time in taxation. "One full grown chicken for each rancher and farmer will pay his tax for this bond issue," declares W. S. Whinnery, president of the County Commissioners Association of Colorado.

A favorable vote on these bonds means that Colorado will soon become one of the best advertised states in the Union. Roads make any country, and Colorado, with her wealth of scenery, her miles of undeveloped territory, needs them to bring to the attention of the traveler and investor the wonderful resources of the state. This is one expenditure for which all who favor the doing of those things that make the state greater, will be found a unit. The Highway Commission Bill likewise is a most popular measure, and these two bills should receive the emphatic approval of the voters at election time.

MEDICAL ALTRUISM IN BROOKLYN.

From the New York Sun.
The self-sacrifice of physicians has frequently been the theme of comment by the Sun, chiefly with a view to emphasizing the unfairness and injustice of the laws regulating the practice of medicine in several states of the Union or to point out the lack of appreciation of the altruistic efforts of physicians to stamp out infectious diseases from which they derive their largest incomes and thereby to neutralize the unreasonable antagonism of certain faculties. The section of the Associated Physicians of Long Island, reported on October 2, furnishes another demonstration of our contention that there are no other members of a community who voluntarily sacrifice their financial interests, their time, labor, comfort and health, in many notable instances life itself, for the public welfare as do the members of the medical profession. Here is an example of sacrificing a sentiment sustained by long established custom, when 200 men unanimously resolve to submit their own bodies to post-mortem examination, in order to overcome the baseless prejudice against this most useful and often only method of ascertaining the cause of death.

The progress of medicine, a matter in which the public is more deeply involved than it unfortunately appreciates, was thwarted for many centuries by the superstitious regard for the sanctity of the human body after death. In the days of Hippocrates and Galen and for several succeeding centuries when the human body was regarded with little respect during life, being sacrificed in large numbers in wars of conquest, the law forbade dissection and compelled physicians to study anatomy on animals. With the result that the most earnest men fell into the errors that led to much loss of life. "Andrea Vesalius 'took his life in his hands' when he dissected a human body surreptitiously and offered to his colleagues and disciples the first correct anatomical data. It is indeed a matter of astonishing note that this singular superstition has survived when many others have succumbed to the steady and inexorable march of enlightenment."

The mutilation inflicted by the pathologist's instruments which arouses in the mind of well-meaning but unthinking people the feeling of repulsion upon which prejudice is chiefly based is to the reflecting mind infinitesimal when compared to that inflicted by the tooth of time; indeed, the latter always obliterates the former. The sentimental groundwork of this harmful prejudice is demolished by this consideration. Every intelligent person realizes how difficult is diagnosis and how often recovery is hampered if not entirely thwarted by incorrect or impossible diagnosis. That the latter has become more positive under the investigation of pathologists is a well-known fact.

Those who are most competent to judge, the physicians, have again admonished the public that it is endangering its own most valuable interests in opposing the post-mortem examinations. The enlightened action of the Brooklyn fraternity not only reflects credit on its self-sacrifice, but affords a manifestation of common sense and knowledge of human nature, which is rarely encountered among medical men, who too often are absorbed by scientific and ethical matters to the exclusion of pressing practical affairs of life.

THE SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM.

From the New York Tribune.
As a law school does not turn out finished lawyers ready to lead the bar, so the Pulitzer School of Journalism, which has just opened its doors, will not be expected to turn out experts ready to take the direction of the press. The most it can do is to give men such a degree of familiarity with the methods and tools of their craft as will enable them to turn themselves quickly to practical usefulness, and such a foundation of knowledge and culture as will serve as a working basis for immediately intelligent application to whatever problem they may face in a newspaper office.

Dr. Williams, in outlining the courses of the school has laid great emphasis on laboratory practice and is endeavoring to train the students to write good and accurate English under conditions of acquiring information and under limitations of time approximating those imposed in a newspaper office. But that training in facility is to be supplemented by the study of the history, literature and theory of journalism, and is not directed to giving shallow men a superficial facility. His aim is not merely to make graduates more acceptable as "cub reporters" because they know enough of newspaper technique to furnish passable "stories" straight from the beginning, but rather to turn out men who, being equipped to adapt themselves readily to apprenticeship, will have the capacity and the breadth of vision to master, along whatever line their tastes or their opportunities may dictate.

Every experienced editor knows the difficulty of finding men and women for important places. Park-aid workers are common enough. Public writers are numberless. But those who combine facility and intellectual equipment with breadth of knowledge and sound judgment are rare either for writing or executive work. That the School of Journalism will furnish these talents in a steady stream is not to be expected. That its graduates will go into the offices of newspapers settled in their traditions, and do away with all the sins of omission and commission perpetuated attributed to them is as little to be hoped as that a class of 120 students with high ideals will reform the abuses of the law instead of adapting themselves to the conditions of getting a living with which they are confronted. Yet nobody will deny that the more men of broad training and high ideals go into the law the higher becomes the standard of the profession, and we may look to see in newspapers an improvement in taste and truth just in proportion as strength of character, trained accuracy and good taste are inculcated in the coming generation of journalists.

It has been the fashion to laugh at the idea of teaching journalism in a school. The old-time physician laughed at the medical college, and the old-time lawyer thought his office all the school a student needed. Both the law office and the doctor's office are still invaluable for practical training. The professional school only fits a man to make the best use of them. So the school of journalism may be expected to fit students to make the best use for themselves and their employers of the chances which come to them in actual newspaper making. They will still be "cubs" when they enter the editorial room—woe for them if they dare to think otherwise. But they should be "cubs" with a capacity for more than ordinary development in one of the most difficult and trying of professions and one for which no strength of character and no breadth of training can be too great.

In full evening dress, with the glow of the evening lamps reflecting the flash of diamonds and the sheen of silk and satin the gathering was a brilliant one, probably the most impressive in a social way the town has known in some years. The sonorous strains of the famous old wedding march from Lohengrin, from the master hands of Prof. George Lewis, heralded their approach. Dr. Fleetwood said the marriage service, according to the prescribed rite of the Episcopal faith, which is notably dignified in lines and expression. Following the ceremony there was a joyous season of congratulations, after which the company assembled at tables gleaming in silver, cut glass, china and spotless napery, where the wedding supper was served by deft-handed men sent out for the occasion by a Chicago catering concern. Immediately after the supper, which was a joyous event which was one of great anxiety and abounding good cheer the bride, dressed in a becoming gown and left with her husband for Chicago.

One Kind of Slavery

By RUTH CAMERON.

Do you exist for your house or does your house exist for you?

The other day I went to call on a woman who has just moved into a beautiful new house. She has been planning and working for the change many years and it is indeed a handsome building.

But I do not have any trouble to keep from breaking the tenth commandment in my thoughts of her.

Indeed no. (In the contrary I am sorry for her.) For she is so obsessed by her worship of that house that she exists to serve it instead of subserving it to her pleasure and comfort, and making a real home of it.

Let me give you a few illustrations. The bathroom in her new house—I refuse to call the fixtures are copper. Now to keep these fixtures, bright, their owner says, takes her exactly one hour and a half three times a week. That's four hours and a half a week. And yet my friend said recently, "Some lovely people called on us when we first came but I simply haven't had time to return their call."

Again, there is a brand new gas range in the kitchen. It has every convenience of attachment that modern ingenuity can devise and it was absolutely spotless. My friend is a notable housekeeper.

But the immaculateness of this was wonderful even for her and I said so. "Well, you see," she explained, "I hardly use it at all because I hate to get it messed up. I have my old range down cellar and I do most of my cooking there." And yet my hostess told me she didn't know when she had been so tired as this fall. She thought it was the bad weather.

It was a very warm day when I called, and yet not a window in any of the chambers was open. "We haven't had the windows open any more than we could possibly help this summer," she explained. "You know that lets in the dust and this white woodwork soils so easily."

It is a good thing to have beautiful possessions but it is not a good thing to be possessed by them. Perhaps you think I have been telling of an exaggerated case. An extreme case, I grant you, but not an exaggerated one, for every word is true. Houses are meant for homes, not for fetters. They are meant to live in, not to be enslaved by.

Women make such slaves of themselves as this one, but make in greater or less degree put the home above those who live in it.

Do you?

MEASURES TO BE VOTED ON AT ELECTION NOV. 5

In order that the voters of El Paso county may familiarize themselves with the proposed laws and amendments to be voted on at the general election November 5, The Gazette intends each day to publish a brief abstract of one of the proposed measures, until the entire 22 have been set forth.

The daily report finance bill is the twenty-first measure on the ballot for this fall's election or rejection. In short, it provides that all departments in the capitol building shall, every day, turn over all cash collected by them to the state treasurer, and that all state institutions shall turn over all cash collected by them to the state treasurer every month. No department or state institution could expend one dollar unless the expense item took the regular course through the auditor's and treasurer's office.

The law provides that state institutions must turn their mill levy funds over to the treasurer for the purpose of regular state warrant instead of by the warrant of the board of control of the various institutions.

In short, the bill makes the state treasurer the custodian of all funds instead of a portion of the funds, as at present. It puts a stop to departments holding large balances in the bank and getting personal interest checks for same.

The measure was enacted by the assembly, but the heads of the various departments holding funds objected to it, and so they formed a sort of a union and referred it to the people.

PONDEROUS PERSONAGES

Thomas Babington Macaulay.
By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

On October 25, 1800, the newly installed Nineteenth century made good by producing a baby who was promptly wrapped up in the name of Thomas Babington Macaulay.

It would take the ordinary baby 30 years to grow up to a name of this size, but Thomas was no ordinary baby. He had a two-bushel head and large, serious eyes, and at the age of 3 he was reading the newspapers. At seven he was so skillful in debate that the only defense of his elders was to send him to bed by way of rebuke. At 12 he could compose in Latin and Greek, and could run in five languages. Even his enemies admitted that Thomas Babington Macaulay would grow up to be a big man and stretch his name all out of shape.

And yet, with all his magnificent start, Macaulay was a failure. He failed in his life's ambition, which was to write a history of England. He knew England's history by heart and had an enormous stock of well-oiled, easy running words which people would rather read than go a-fishing. Yet he struggled for 20 years with his task and then, when he realized that he had only completed 15 years of history and was five years worse off than when he started, he gave up and died. As a historian he was one of the world's greatest failures, being 35 per cent slower than time itself.

Men have failed from many causes, but few have failed as Macaulay did. He failed because he was too infernally capable in too many ways. He was the best essayist in England and a rattling good journeyman poet. He was also a spellbinder, politician and statesman, and could pack upon 24 hours' notice and run a colony with fair success. All of this was bad on the history business. No sooner did he seat himself in a large arm chair, with four acres of references around him and chapter two of his forthcoming work on his knee, waiting to be finished, than a magazine editor or book publisher or the Whig party or a prime minister would come around and interfere. He had to stop his history to write essays, because the people cried for them. He had to become a member of the Whig ministry. He had to drop his pen for four years and govern the East India company at $50,000 a year. He had, in fact, to write his history while being shamed and while dodging opportunity in 40 forms, and when he died he had only five volumes finished out of a possible 200.

The five volumes which Macaulay did write became best sellers in England, and his death was a sad blow. English people had been reading of the life of William of Orange and his pen became more interesting than love and romance. If Macaulay had been less gifted in other lines, he might have exhumed a whole century of English history in colors more vivid than the frescoes at Pompeii, but all he succeeded in doing was to make other historians seem dull and tame.

A historian should carefully weed out his other talents before attempting to make up 1,000 years on Father Time.

THE HASKIN LETTER

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS
XIV—TIPPECANOE AND TYLER TOO

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

The presidential election of 1840 was fought without an issue. The opposition to the dominant Democratic party was made up of so many diverse elements that it was impossible to adopt a platform upon which all could unite. Therefore the Whigs passed up the making of a platform, nominated a war hero and set about a campaign of claimor with victory as its only object.

The Democrats had their troubles in this campaign when they got into their convention, which, by the way, like several others, had convened upon the call, not of any national Democratic organization, but upon that of the Democratic members of the New Hampshire legislature. When the convention tried to nominate a vice president to run with Van Buren, there was a hopeless split. Vice President Johnson had been elected to that position by the senate, no one having received a majority of the electoral vote for vice president in 1837. The opposition to Johnson had not forgotten its grudge against him, and his friends were the more firm for him because of that fact. The result was that the convention adjourned without choosing a vice presidential candidate. This led the Whigs to remind the country that the Democrats could not agree on a candidate, which brought the rebort that it was better to agree on issues and disagree on men, than it was to agree on men and be split hopelessly over principles.

There have been two occasions in the history of the presidency where unfortunate remarks by the opposition gave a party its cue and swept it to the White house. One of these was when the editor of a Baltimore paper wrote of William Henry Harrison as if he were given a barrel of hard cider and a pension of $2,000 a year be would sit content by his "sea coal" fire in his log cabin in Ohio the rest of the days and study moral philosophy.

That settled it. What finer opportunity could there be for an appeal to class prejudice? The Whigs took it and straightaway it became the cabin and hard cider campaign, campaign in which a war hero simply sung and shouted into the presidency. There was absolutely nothing to it after that. With such a rally cry as a Democratic editor had given the Whig forces, arguments wholly lost, and a supply of songs, shouts and campaign lies the like which has never been equaled. American politics was soon on tap.

The Whigs got busy early in the campaign of 1840. They held their national convention the first week of December, 1839. Before that time party leaders were busy appealing.

"The Kiss Waltz" at the Grand Opera House Monday Next, October 28.

The season's very first selection of away beauties. "The Kiss Waltz" has been done in all the glory of its original New York Casino setting. In every detail of the original costume effect that drew New York continuously for a year. The latest fashion fads of London and Paris are shown in Melville Ellis latest effects, and lovely Valeska appears in her famous diamond and no less than 11 other magnificent gowns. The talk of the fashion world.

The score of "The Kiss Waltz" is fed by the musical genius of New York. The production is said to be the most similar in scope to the melody strains of the Gilbert and Sullivan masterpieces.

The work is the latest composition by celebrated Viennese composer, whose earlier work "Mile. Waltz" was made famous by Fritz. The story written by Edgar concerns the love romances of a young Viennese handmaiden, who at the same composition, "The Kiss Waltz," to no less than six different prepossession dancers whom he in love with. The consequential scenes are said to be humorous and extreme.

A whole opera is said to scintillate with gaiety, the comedy being of higher order, which makes it necessary for the principals to resort to the most delicate lines in order to retain their hearers.

The story has all the warmth and for which the Viennese are noted. Concerns Guido Spitz, a handsome young composer, who has just completed "The Kiss Waltz," whose strains have captured every nine heart in sight. Nella, the mess von Barnau (Miss Suratt), is kept at his elbow, but the number of mishaps. The baroness

What is the cause of marital unrest? Why is it that the percentage of divorce cases rises steadily every year in the United States? Why should it be that today—tomorrow you may meet your happily married friend, and in response to your question regarding his wife he shakes his head and replies, "Divorced?"

Why should all this be? These are questions that the ablest minds have wrestled with for the past decade without even a mediocre answer. But the question will not down it confronts every thinking man and woman over and over again. Legal brains have tried to reply; orators have used their eloquence; the papers have printed reams of matter; and the public has followed its futilities. Still the question remains unanswered—unanswered.

Now comes a modern play ensuing a drama called "The Rosary," written by Edward E. Rose, and produced by the well-known theatrical managers, Messrs. Rowland & Clifford. Quietly and modestly, with no blaze of trumpets, it projects a quiet word into this turmoil of opinions, which many believe will revolutionize our ethics of marriage and divorce.

"Look within," it says. "Look into the hearts and souls of our men and women today. See if there be within the same rugged faith that carried a republic from the wilderness and raised above it our Stars and Stripes. Search for the abiding balance on things unseen, which forever hold up our nation when they falter under privation, dangers and hardships."

For an illustration, "The Rosary" takes you into the heart of a typical American family. It shows the peace and happiness there, then suddenly unmasks the canker spot—lack of faith in the husband. Slowly, little by little, is seen this devastating power of atheism; how it saps the strength and melts the will, so that when doubt and suspicion creep in they find the soil fertile for their direct descendants, hatred and revenge, and the home goes down to ruin with a crash. Then comes the spiritual power of a great man, a priest, whose life is given to mankind. Slowly, by sheer faith, he analyzes the situation and leads the two forth, the husband and wife, whom he loves, out of the darkness of their despair to happiness and peace.

That is "The Rosary" and the discussions that will follow its production will do much to clear the smoke of idle theories from this tremendous question which underlies the happiness and well-being of every American home.

"The Plot of Heartsease"

It is a dainty little romance in four acts from the pen of Charles Klein and J. L. C. Clark, who was at that time collaborating with Mr. Klein in the construction of many of the popular successes in the dramatic field. The play was originally produced as a modern and up-to-date, and after its New York run was rewritten and the best changed to the seventeenth century. Of the two versions, the modern seems to have proved the more successful, and the version to be given by the Burns Players will be the modernized or original one. Company enlarged for the occasion.

The story is a pretty little romance. The scenes are laid in England. The plot is woven around one Eric Temple, who, possessing some musical genius, is ambitious to become an operatic writer and composer; so he wrote the lyrics and music for his opera and called it "Kiss Waltz," dedicating the star song of the opera to Margaret, the name of the song being "Heartsease," from which the play derives its name. Shortly after the opera was completed, he entrusted the manuscript of it to Lady Neville, an admirer of operatic music. Lady Neville places the manuscript in a little cabinet for safe keeping, only to have it confiscated by the supposed friend, Sir Geoffrey Pontreil. Sir Geoffrey has the opera produced, changing its name to "Hildebrand," and pretending to be its author. Fortunately, Eric Temple attends this particular opera at Covent Garden, London, and recognizes his own handiwork, which, of course, brings things to their fitting climax.

This is quite a change from the productions of the last few weeks, and ought to appeal to the theatergoing public.

SEATS FOR VALESKA

SURATT TODAY

Seats for the engagement of Valeska Suratt and opera company, in the New York Casino musical success, "The Kiss Waltz," which will be given at the Grand Opera house, Monday next, October 28, will be placed on sale at the box office this morning at 2 o'clock. Judging from the way the mail orders have been coming in since it was first announced Miss Suratt would appear here in the new piece, there is every reason to expect that the sale tomorrow will be the largest of the season. A Suratt engagement is always a theatrical treat, and the added fact that she will appear in a brand new opera makes the occasion one of unusual interest. "The Kiss Waltz" ran a whole year in New York, and the critics there declared it "the equal of the most exquisite of the Gilbert & Sullivan musical masterpieces."

It is surrounded by a notable company of Broadway favorites, and the scenic treatment and settings are said to be the richest ever provided for a comic opera production.

SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION

HOLDS FIRST MEETING.

With an attendance of 49, the El Paso County Sunday School Graded Union and Teacher Training School opened last night at the Y. M. C. A. The opening address was delivered by Dr. W. W. More Economical Roth in Use and Cost CALUMET BAKING POWDER

And it does better work. Simply follow your customary method of preparation, add a little less of Calumet than when using ordinary baking powder. Then watch the result. Light, fluffy, and evenly raised—the baking comes from the oven more tempting, tastier, more wholesome.

Calumet insures the baking of an expert. Ask your grocer to-day.

D. & R. G. IMPROVEMENTS

WILL COST $20,000,000

There seems to be a race between transcontinental railroads to carry the tourists to the Panama exposition across the continent in 1915. Foremost among the roads which are being put in shape for this immense passenger traffic is the Denver & Rio Grande, upon which is being spent $10,000,000 this year, with as many more millions to be laid out each year before the exposition crowd arrives (that will tax the capacity of its trains as they have never been taxed before). An effort will be made to bring the bulk of the tourists en route to the great exposition through Colorado. President Bush of the D. & R. G. plans to have every person who crosses the continent see Colorado in safety and comfort, either going or coming.

Among the costly expenditures for the betterment of the D. & R. G. will be the immense construction in cutting down the grade at Soldiers Summit, on its main line, which has always been too steep for economical railroading, and changing the narrow gauge line between Salina and Montrose to standard gauge. Other expensive construction will also be carried on, such as laying the heaviest steel rails and new

Pretty Mothers

Her life is the foundation of all good looks. The wise woman realizes this and takes precautions to preserve her health and strength through the period of child bearing. She remains a pretty mother by avoiding as far as possible the suffering and dangers of such occasions. This every woman may do through the use of Mother's Friend, a remedy that has been so long in use, and accomplished so much good, that it is no longer an experiment, but a preparation which always produces the best results. It is for external application and so penetrating in its nature as to thoroughly lubricate every muscle, nerve and tendon involved during the period before baby comes. It aids nature by expanding the skin and tissues, relieves tenderness and soreness, and perfectly prepares the system for natural and safe motherhood. Mother's Friend has been used and endorsed by thousands of mothers, and its use will prove a comfort and benefit to any woman in need of such a remedy. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers, which contains much valuable information.

William C. Robinson

REPUBLICAN AND PROGRESSIVE CANDIDATE FOR STATE SENATOR.

Four years ago El Paso and Teller counties were about to elect a state senator. They were then in one district. Mr. Charles J. Hughes was a Democratic candidate for United States Senator. He was the most noted and powerful corporation lawyer in Colorado. He was the attorney for certain railroads, the Denver Tramway and other public utility corporations in Denver. He was the political and business associate and attorney for Mr. William G. Evans and Mr. Robert Speer and other men who controlled Denver.

Mr. Hughes and his clients wanted the vote of the state senator from El Paso County.

I have been informed that $1,500 of Mr. Hughes' money came into the campaign fund in this county—after a certain pledge had been signed, sealed and deposited in a certain safe to be held until after Mr. Hughes had been elected United States Senator.

THE "PEOPLE'S REPRESENTATIVE" FROM EL PASO COUNTY VOTED FOR MR. HUGHES

"All such things seem to me to be wholly wrong and indefensible. No candidate for United States Senator, no corporation, should be allowed to contribute to the campaign expenses of a candidate for the general assembly. Such contributions must and do create an obligation.

No candidate for the United States senate, no corporation, nor any other person, has contributed one cent to my campaign expenses. No such contribution will be accepted by me.

ties over the entire mileage of the system and equipping the road with the most modern cars and largest engines. The Denver & Rio Grande railroad is being given such an overwhelming business in the world, hauling as no railroad in the world has ever known, and is rapidly being made one of the safest and best railroads in existence.

All the work is being done on borrowed capital. Such is the confidence of the new president of the system, in the future of the property and the growth of Colorado, that he intends to prepare his line, by an expenditure of at least $20,000,000, to serve this state better than any state in the Union has ever been served by any other line. This sum has been raised by a bond issue and will be expended in two years' time. The expenditures at present amount to nearly $1,000,000 a month, much of the most important construction being now under way.

CHILDREN HATE CASTOR OIL, UGH!

Delicious "Syrup of Figs"
Cleanses Their Little
Clogged Bowels

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the physic that mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. Now you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. The day of harsh physic is over. We don't force the liver and 30 feet of bowels now. We coax them. We have no dreaded after effects. Mother was clinging to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well founded. Their little stomachs and tender bowels are injured by them.

If your child is fretful, peevish, half sick, stomach sour, breath feverish and its little system full of colds, has diarrhoea, sore throat, stomach-aches, doesn't eat or rest well—remember—look at the tongue, if coated, give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs, then don't worry, because you surely will have a well, smiling child in a few hours.

Syrup of Figs being composed entirely of delicious figs, senna and aromatics simply cannot be harmful. It sweetens the stomach, makes the liver active and thoroughly cleanses the little one's waste-clogged bowels. In a few hours all sour bile, undigested fermenting food and constipated waste matter easily moves on and out of the system without crying or nausea.

Instructions for children of all ages, also for grown-ups, plainly printed on the package.

By all means get the genuine. Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. Accept nothing else.
